Deutsche Lieder

Blau Blüht Der Enzian.....trad & Wolfgang Neukirchner 1972
arr. for Heino (Heinz Kramm)

*"I fell in love with the Swiss girl midst the blue Alpine flowers...
Her red lips, I will never forget..."*

Westerwaldlied.....Münker, Böhmer, Scharthauer 1932
~ melody, text fragments of old songs, arr. Josef Neuhäuser for Heino 1935
"Beautiful western forest, with cold wind blowing over your mountains, the slightest sunshine warms the heart."

Die Schwarze Barbara... ..Wolfgang Kummer 1940
~ arr. Erich Becht for Heino 1975
*"The most beautiful in the world: my black haired Barbara, blue eyes, red lips.
We met in her father's tavern at the edge of the woods."*

Sierra Madre .....Wolfgang Roloff, Hans Hee 1970, arr. for Heino 2000
*"At dawn, where the white Condor flies so lonely, the people of the Andes sing their old song, like a greeting to the sun.
At sunset, they look up to the sun's afterglow, and they think how quickly happiness often passes. From a thousand hearts, their song sounds like a prayer."*

Wir Tanzen Polka..... adapted by Jack White for Heino 2006
~ from White's "Ich lieb dich über alles auf der Welt" for Hansi Hinterseer 2002
*"I too was once young. Yes, beautiful is the memory. It's been a long time, but then and at any time, there was the brass band, yes, the brass band.
and today we are celebrating together here."*

Dein Ist Mein Ganzes Herz .....Franz Lehar
~ from "Das Land des Lächelns" 1929
"My heart belongs to you alone; where you are not, I cannot be..."

Der Fröhliche Wanderer/Ein Prosit.....Friedrich-Wilhelm Möller; Edith Möller, Florenz Sigismund, Antonia Florence Ridge 1953
*"My father was a wanderer: it's in my blood, hiking and singing...
Part 2: A toast, to friends and good times..."*

Nur Ihrem Frieden .....Wolfgang Mozart
~ Dalla Sua Pace, from "Don Giovanni" 1787
"Your joy is my joy, your pain is my pain..."

Stets Soll Nur Dir.....Richard Wagner
~ from "Tannhauser" 1845
" O Goddess Venus, yes, I adore you, but no longer can I be your love slave; I long for Freedom.... "
